A large hexagonal grid composed of many hexagons. The hexagons are colored in several ways: some are green with a single green dot in the center; some are purple with two purple dots in the center; some are orange with three orange dots in the center; one is blue with four blue dots in the center; and two are red with five red dots in the center. There are also several white hexagons scattered throughout the grid. The overall pattern is complex and non-uniform.
